Breaks in service/seasonal employees for checks - If someone has a scheduled break in service of up to one year, new background checks are not required. Examples are a seasonal employee who works only in the summer and is expected to return the following summer and an employee with scheduled maternity leave of up to one year.

For CBC and MHL 16.34 - See 14 NYCRR 633.22(d) for additional information regarding who has to be checked, including a list of types of employees/operators presumed to have the requisite contact.

If a voluntary agency does not have any operating certificates, they cannot do the SCR check for their employees. If a voluntary agency operates both certified and non-certified services, and the agency considers that employees in some or all of its non-certified services have the potential for regular and substantial contact with individuals in their certified services, the agency should request the SCR check for these employees. This determination by the agency should depend on the employee's potential for regular and substantial contact in certified programs.

Family Support Service (FSS) programs are required to request SEL, CBC and MHL 16.34 checks. Since FSS programs are not certified, SCR checks are not required (unless the FSS program is operated by OPWDD).
